Sessions

Design Thinking

Working as a student ambassador requires you to be creative and to think outside the box, while creating solutions for specific needs. Design Thinking is a practical and collaborative methodology that supports this mindset and equips students with tools to understand problems deeply, ideate effectively, and test solutions iteratively. Ambassadors will often engage in projects requiring problem-solving, empathy, and co-creation with stakeholders from across the ECIU network.

This session should prepare them to apply the Design Thinking process in real-world ambassador activities and enhance their ability to approach challenges creatively and systematically. We are searching for someone who has:

- Practical experience in applying Design Thinking, human-centered design, or similar innovation methodologies
- Ability to facilitate interactive, hands-on sessions that engage students in active learning
- Familiarity with Challenge-Based Learning (CBL) and integrating Design Thinking within educational contexts

- Strong background in creativity development, problem-solving strategies, and group facilitation

Leadership

Student Ambassadors will have to lead and work on projects during their mandate. Most of these require project and team management skills and put them in the role of leader. They will conduct these projects in teams of ambassadors, working with each other and with universities and ECIU staff members.

This session should prepare them to take this role of leader and facilitate their journey in project management. We are searching for someone who has:

- Strong background in leadership development, student engagement, and organizational skills.
- Experience in coaching, mentoring, or training students in leadership roles
- Familiarity with Challenge-Based Learning (CBL) and other innovative teaching methodologies
- Awareness of international and intercultural dynamics in leadership, particularly within the context of higher education.
- Knowledge of stakeholder engagement, decision-making strategies, and project management in student-led initiatives

Pitching/Presentation/ Entrepreneurship/communication

Student ambassadors need to be able to communicate innovatively and efficiently to communities to promote ECIU and its Learning Opportunities to students. They are also directly in contact with administrative staff, teachers and university employees. Their role is also to ensure communication between these communities and the students. They need to be able to deliver the right message understandably and efficiently.

This session will be dedicated to preparing them to pitch/present their ideas and projects at the end of the 5 days in teams.

We are searching for someone who has:

- Strong background in communication, speech, presentation and pitch preparation
- Experience in coaching, mentoring, or training students in communication
- Familiarity with Challenge-Based Learning (CBL) and other innovative teaching methodologies
- Awareness of international and intercultural dynamics in communication, particularly within the context of higher education and considering aspects such as intercultural competences
