

UNIVERSITY OF TWENTE AND ITS WIDER COMMUNITY

The UT Language Centre services are open to everyone at the University of Twente, including ITC: lecturers, support staff, researchers, and students. Also, under certain conditions, partners of international staff can take part in our courses. Other parties in the area, such as international companies, may have language learning needs comparable to those at UT; they are cordially invited to contact the UT Language Centre to discuss possible ways of co-operation.

IDENTIFY AND SUPPORT

Because the UT Language Centre focuses on individual language learners, the identification of personal needs in learning languages is a crucial part of our services. Individuals can come to us for an assessment or a placement test, but we can also organise language assessments for large groups of people. For Dutch national language exams, we liaise with official language testing centres.

Our support to language learners consists not only of our own language courses, but also of individual advice on how best to improve one's proficiency, for instance through self-study or courses offered by external parties. Also, we offer support on any language-related topic: translating, editing, terminology, and UT language style guides.

FLEXIBLE AND PROFESSIONAL

The language trainers working at or for the UT Language Centre are all qualified professionals. They are experienced in working at institutes for higher education and in developing and teaching courses for specific purposes.

Such expertise means the UT Language Centre can be flexible in its services. In addition to offering courses with open registration, we cater for specific needs by creating tailor-made courses.
