

SYMPOSIUM
13 & 14 JUNE 2018

URBAN STUDIES SYMPOSIUM: PEOPLE, LAND AND URBAN SYSTEMS

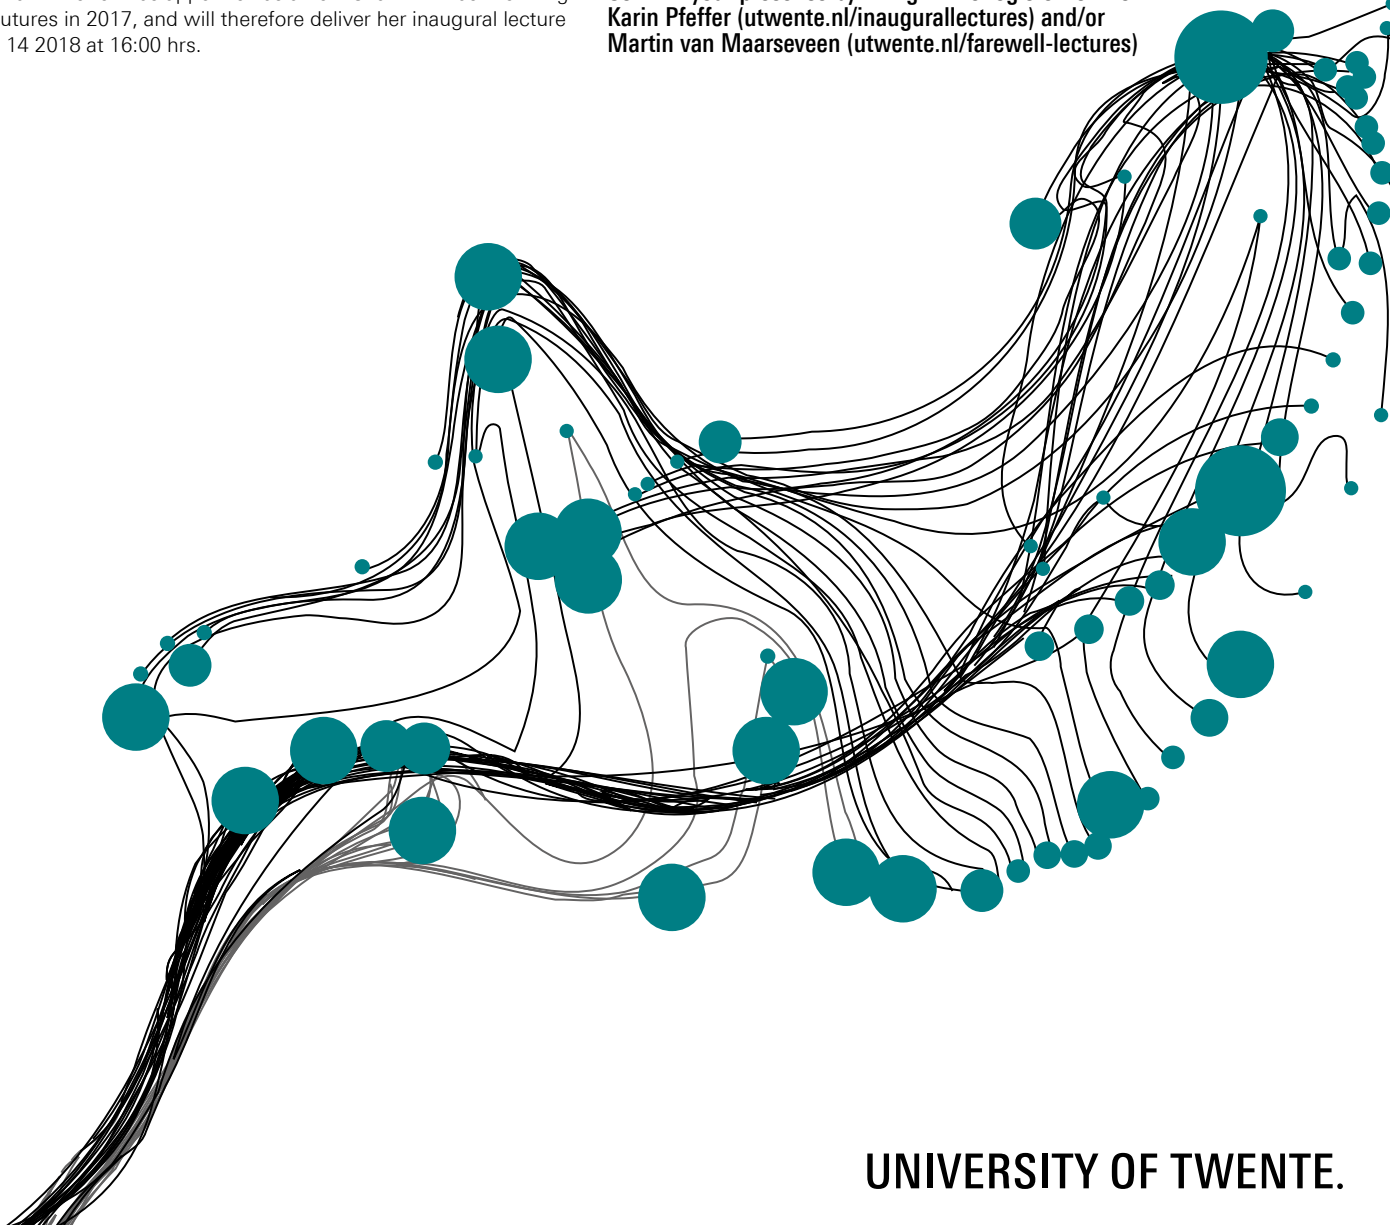

For the first time in human history, more people are living in cities than in rural areas. Intensive urbanization is taking place in cities in the Global South, in particular in sub-Saharan Africa and Asia. New city plans feature research and policy agendas, which is in line with SDG Goal 11 (Making cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable). Therefore, it is an apt time to look at the evolution of urbanization patterns and key issues of urbanization such as transportation, and enact discussions on Urbanization Futures.

IN ADDITION, THIS YEAR IS A SPECIAL YEAR FOR ITC OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TWENTE BECAUSE:

- We are celebrating 50 years of Urban Studies at ITC
- Prof. dr.ir. Martin van Maarseveen, Chair in Management of Urban-Regional Dynamics, will retire and say farewell with his valedictory lecture on June 13 2018 at 16:00 hrs.
- Prof. dr. Karin Pfeffer was appointed as a new Chair in Infrastructuring Urban Futures in 2017, and will therefore deliver her inaugural lecture on June 14 2018 at 16:00 hrs.

To mark these events and the relevance of urban studies, we would like to invite you to a 2-day symposium from 13 to 14 June 2018, in which we look backwards and forwards on selected aspects of urbanization processes and patterns.

Confirm your presence by filling in the register form of Karin Pfeffer (utwente.nl/inaugurallectures) and/or Martin van Maarseveen (utwente.nl/farewell-lectures)
