

From Up High

To my child, I sitting up in my lovely little treehouse gazing at the clear blue sea and sky. It is quiet save the sound of the gentle waves and the chirping birds. I am grateful for this moment. I want to tell a story about a very challenging period of time twenty years ago. There was a pandemic virus called the coronavirus which was killing too many people amidst a world of wars, hunger and poverty. We destroyed ourselves because of GREED. Thank God for brilliant scientists who not only found a cure for this virus but for all health issues with a simple test. Our environment became healthy again as well. As borders dissolved, love and generosity prevailed and became the new normal. Faith and hope were restored. Smiles, hugs and laughter filled the clean atmosphere. You see we had to go through that difficult time to get to where we are today. God willing we have learned our lesson and we can now all live in harmony.
