

Green life

I will be in my hometown 10 years later in a small house with garden. Suppose I will be happy with my surrounding. Growing vegetables and trees and help other to do. Campaigning for "one million trees" all over the city and rural area. Many steps to be taken to reaches that stage. Begin with working with wild life trust as a volunteer or paid job helps me to take a step. Then set up a charity for green life with at least five people. I will send this message to myself.
