

The Educational Committee advises the following on the name and the content of the new program:

Advice 21-3-2017-1

Advice: After carefully weighting both the pros and the cons of the name Management, Society & Technology, the Educational Committee of EPA cannot think of a better alternative. Therefore, it gives a positive advice on the name.

If another name will be chosen, the Educational Committee advises the following:

Regarding the name:

Advice a: Create a name with the following 3 elements (society, management, technology), which tailors to the needs of students who want a multidisciplinary approach.

Advice b: Carefully consider the order of the three elements related to the abbreviation of the name.

Regarding the content of the program:

Advice c: Although the 3 different elements in the name are very different from each other, formulate the program in a coherent way, bridging the three elements.

Advice d: Make sure that the name covers the content of the program. To make the program reflect the name, make sure that there is enough technology in the program text.

Advice e: Make sure the program contains enough practical, organization skills.
