National Policy Activities

At this moment I chair a committee installed by the RDC to support a study on family-support programs (Meta-evaluatie methodieken van opvoedingsondersteuning). I also participate in a committee on 'Home Visitation by nurses'. Furthermore, I am a member of a Committee of the Dutch Health Board (Gezondheidsraad) on the effect of health information mass-media campaigns.

I worked with a committee which evaluated preventive interventions of conduct problems in relation to possible introduction of these interventions in the Netherlands.

Other activities

Chair of the committee of two new teaching programs on Safety in Belgium for the Accreditation Organization of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO), 2011 – 2012.

Teaching

I developed and coordinate an executive master ‘risk and safety in ICT & cyberspace’ (https://www.utwente.nl/onderwijs/professional-learning-and-development/executive\_opleidingen/masterclass-risico-en-veiligheid-in-ict- en-cyberspace/#opleidingsoverzicht). This is a multidisciplinary master track in Dutch.

I developed the minor Cybercrime and Cyber Security, together with Prof. Dr. Rainer Böhme (University of Innsbruck, Austria) and the Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität Münster (WWU Münster).

In 2010 I developed the minor ‘Crime Science & Risk Governance’ and taught several courses in the minor.

I taught the course ‘Crime Science for Public Policy’ in the master.

Together with Prof Hartel I developed and still teach the multidisciplinary course ‘Cyber Crime Science’ (<https://wwwhome.ewi.utwente.nl/~pieter/CCS/>).

At Utrecht University I coordinated an Introduction to Developmental Psychology for Psychology students and for students in Education. In Amsterdam (UvA) I have developed a new course on prevention and treatment of conduct disorders.

I was responsible for lectures in the first-year course Developmental Psychology and Health. I teach the course ‘Crime in Context (SC 326), which is a course Psychology and Crime for the University College Utrecht (together with dr. Alexis Aronowitz). I also led several seminars on Practices Of Research Techniques (Onderzoeksp practicum, leeronderzoek), personality and developmental psychology.

In 2000-2008 was involved in the tutorials of the Introduction of Developmental Psychology, Introduction of Personality Psychology, and Research practicum.

I supervised about 30 master theses. I lectured as a visiting researcher at the Universities of London (UK), Pittsburgh (USA), Michigan (USA), Leuven (KUL, Belgium), and Montreal (Canada).

Managing Research Teams

From the time I started working at the WODC (Ministry of Justice) in 1984, I have managed research teams and research assistants to conduct data collection and data analysis. I was the principal investigator at the Ministry of Justice of the following projects: Ethnicity and Crime, Assistance to victims of crime, Restitution within the Criminal Justice System, Traffic accidents of ethnic minorities, and Neighbourhood Crime Prevention. These projects involved various assistants and all involved a considerable data-collection effort. This is reflected in the fact that all the Reports for the Ministry of Justice are authored by myself and one or two other researchers (and assistants). At the NSCR I led the data collection in the project Crime and accidents in the police records.
