

Since the beginning of my student days, I have been very active in student life. This University gave me a lot of opportunities, and I was able to evolve in a lot of different ways. From committees at Stress to organizing the Kick-In and a board year at SBZ. In addition, I am very involved in various events that are organized at this University and I have done a lot for the Student Union. Last year I even had the pleasure of making my voice heard in the University Council and I learned a lot about the policy of the University. This has also taught me a lot about what the Faculty Council stands for.

Although my student life was very active, study did not always go smoothly, and activism was also a way out of studying. My goal in the faculty council is to keep the quality of education high, while at the same time giving every student the opportunity to develop themselves and be able to study in their own way. Through our connection with DAS and the University Council, we also strive to ensure that the lines with the Executive Board remain short and that they continue to see the quality of education as the main goal of the University.
