

Hey!

My name is Thomas Hazewindus, I am a final year Industrial Engineering & Management bachelor student. Besides my studies, I am very active in student participation. I am in the university council on behalf of UReka, and I am a member of the programme committee of IEM. Next to this, I am very active within study association Stress, where I was part of the board in 2018-2019.

As member of the faculty council of BMS, I would like to make sure that the small-scaled education which we currently offer to our students is maintained. Due to the growth of the university, the accessibility of study places, but also the time that lecturers have for a student, is under pressure. I believe we should invest in things like this to maintain the small-scaledness and improve our education!

With the seven of us, we want to make a difference by using the knowledge and experience related to educational and organisational processes that we gained during our board years. Our different backgrounds unite expertise, diverse experiences and interests in one enthusiastic team. We actively contributed to achieving changes in educational procedures to make sure students are better represented in influential advisory bodies throughout our entire faculty. On top of this, the understanding that we built up of the way our faculty is organised now, made us realise that we as students can and have to act to further improve the current status of student involvement.
