Leadership and Management FunctionsProgramme Development, Master of European Studies, Specialization in Regulation

- Developed an interlocking set of courses to teach students about theory, strategy and tactics of regulation (acquiring foundational knowledge), regulatory design and implementation (deepening and application in a concrete setting), and an elective in which to specialize even more deeply and prepare for writing their theses
- Established the Financial Stability Research Group to bring together students and faculty on this topic (own specialty) at Twente and our partner institution (Muenster)
- Networked with other colleagues supervising research on regulation in nanotechnology, health sciences (medical implants, pharmacovigilance, organ transplants), environmental protection and sustainability and food safety.
- Thereby served the dual mission of differentiating the master European Studies programme from the bachelor programme and fitting in with the University of Twente mission to specialize on High Tech Human Touch
- Student subscription to this specialization and profiling for the job market was 60-75% in any given year.
- Dramatically increased completion rates and graduate placement in good Ph.D. programmes.
- Success served as basis for invitations to extend regulation studies from public administration to the health studies programme (Faculty for Natural and Applied Sciences) and business administration (Company Law and Regulation, below)
- Very high evaluations and panel reviews.

Module Coordinator, Bachelor Business Administration, Company Law and Regulation

- Devised, pitched and developed multidisciplinary (political science and law) (multicourse) module for students of international business administration
- Integrated theories, strategies and tactics of regulation with law and practice of information technology regulation (patents, privacy, intellectual property)
- Devised simulation game coupled with education on banking and finance: students

- received missions to lobby multiple regulators and to influence banking regulation to ensure financial stability.
- Very high evaluations and panel reviews.
