

University of Salerno
Department of Legal Sciences
(School of Law)

30 April 2018, 10.00 am – Graziani Library

Workshop International Organizations as Law-Makers

The term international organization today tends to denote a variety of forms of cooperation among States. The existence of other types and formats of relationships between groups of States and between States and other entities has led to considering this terminology as either a mere genus, a flexible conceptual category, or conversely, a notion limited to international organizations established by treaties and having a legal personality. While attaining a univocal normative definition is difficult (the more overarching definition contained in DARIO is not applicable erga omnes), scholars have highlighted some common constitutive elements and principles in relation to international institutional law. Such law has very broad connotations that elude a precise framework in a given legal order and could thus be considered the product of a multiplicity of public and private actors operating in international and transnational relationships. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach, this workshop intends to distinguish the law-making and governance characteristics of such international institutional law in general, and with specific reference to some international organizations or other intergovernmental bodies and private actors.

Scientific Coordinator: Teresa Russo

Scientific Committee: Massimo Panebianco, Giacinto della Cananea, Jan Wouters, Ramses Wessel, Mario De Dominicis

Chair

Giacinto della Cananea
Professor of Administrative Law and European Administrative Law (University of Rome Tor Vergata, Italy)

Welcoming addresses

Aurelio Tommasetti, Rector of the University
Giovanni Sciancalepore, Director of the Department of Legal Sciences (University of Salerno, Italy)
Virgilio D'Antonio, Rector's Delegate for International Mobility (University of Salerno, Italy)

Keynote Speakers

Ramses Wessel, Professor of International and European Law & Governance (University of Twente, Netherlands)
Defining Institutional Law-making

Jan Wouters, Professor of International Law and International Organizations, Jean Monnet Chair EU and Global Governance (KU Leuven, Belgium)
Law-Making Processes in Global Governance: Beyond the Formal-Informal and Public-Private Divide

Discussants

Stefania Negri, Professor of International Law (University of Salerno, Italy)
Institutional (Non-Institutional) Law-Making in International and European Health Law

Anna Oriolo, Professor of International Law (University of Salerno, Italy)
Éthique, production normative et organisations internationales: la Déclaration de l'UNESCO sur les principes éthiques en matière de changement climatique/Ethics, Law-Making and International Organizations: The UNESCO Declaration on Ethical Principles in Relation to Climate Change

Teresa Russo, Professor of International Organization (University of Salerno, Italy)
EU Law-Making on Sanctions: Is EU Law Overriding International Law?

Francesco Amoretti, Professor of Political Science and Political Marketing (University of Salerno, Italy)
Mauro Santaniello, Professor of Political Science and Digital Policy (University of Salerno, Italy)
Nicola Palladino, Research Fellow in Political Science (University of Salerno, Italy)
Ruling the Internet: History, Role and Controversies of the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN)

Tullio Fenucci, Professor of Public Comparative Law (University of Salerno, Italy)
The "Concluding Observations" of the Committee against Torture: How Effective is the Influence on the United States?

Short case study

UN General Assembly Law-Making: Some Practical Examples (Stefano Busillo, Bonaventura Gargano, Giovanni Iodice, Lisa Lambiase, Francesca Lucibello, Alessandra Napoli)

This workshop falls within the 2017 Research Project (Scientific Coordinator Prof. Teresa Russo) funded by the Italian Ministry of Education, University and Research (FFABR-MIUR).

Contact information and address:

University of Salerno - Via Giovanni Paolo II, 132
84084 – Fisciano (SA), Italy - trusso@unisa.it

Working languages: English and French