

TripService is a young and innovative company that focuses on optimally informing road users digitally. We are the builders and owners of the Wegstatus platform, which ensures that data from the government and market parties is available for the most commonly used navigation systems. Thanks to our collaboration with Google Maps, Waze, TomTom and Apple Maps, we receive a lot of data about road users, with which we build premium dashboards that meet specific customer needs.

Our focus is on infrastructure, events and the emergency and emergency services industry.

TripService, located in the Achterhoek, is looking for proactive graduates.

We offer assignments for students interested in the following topics:

- Sustainable/temporary behavioral change of Dutch travelers;
- Analysis of data quality regarding traffic information;
- Internationalization of TripService services/products
