WHAT IS OPEN ACCESS?

As defined in the Budapest Open Access Initiative:

Open Access articles are free available on the public internet, permitting any users to read, download, copy, distribute, print, link to full text, index, pass them as data to software, or use them for any other lawful purpose (...).

WHAT IS OPEN ACCESS?

In practice, when an article is published Open Access:

- anyone with an Internet connection can read it free of charge.
- the author is the copyright holder – not the publisher – and gets to decide where else to share the final article after it is published.
- the peer-review process is the same as for traditional publishing.
- the article's visibility, downloads, citations, and impact increases.

UNIVERSITY OF TWENTE POLICY ON OPEN ACCESS

All UT-affiliated scholarly publications must become Open Access (OA), preferably immediately with a licence for reuse, but at the latest six months after their first online publication date.

Authors who are affiliated with the University of Twente:

- Must make sure that the final pdf of all their publications is uploaded to Pure.
- Must make all their UT-affiliated publications OA, preferably immediately with a licence for reuse, but at the latest 6 months after the first online publication date.
- Preferably publish in high-quality OA journals that are listed in the Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ), and in the almost 10.000 journals that let submitting UT authors publish OA at a 100% discount. These journals can be found in the UT Journal Browser.
- Use possible funds from their research funder to publish OA immediately with a reuse licence outside of the agreements for a 100% discount.
