

I LOVE BEING A TEACHER

I started as a teacher at an early age. This was my dream from childhood. I enjoy it every day and I am competent for this. I want to further develop myself. The best part is that during the classes I have the chance to contribute to the forming of the students. I would like to show an exhibition in a museum about the future, presenting that we are more focused on equality. And thus, we can reduce inequalities with collaboration. Wi-Fi is especially important here because we can reach not only visitors, but everyone in the world. The exhibition shows that we are all valuable.
