

ROBOTICS RESEARCH

I am a researcher in 2030, and curiosity and determination are two important values that motivate me to work towards my goals. My goal is to understand the fundamentals of control. By using facilities and knowledge collected in research institutes at robotics research facilities we can facilitate and motivate people to live a healthier life, with the help and improved understanding of generalized knowledge of motion and control. This would allow safer execution of dangerous tasks as well.