

THE ROAD TO DEMOCRACY

Wow, remember that game from back in the day: 'Grand theft auto'?

Unthinkable that something like that would be released today.

Nowadays, we use "moving time" to dwell on public space. On this bike path, for example, young people with AR glasses are playing a real-life game to experience the value of strong government. Scenarios of robberies, poor infrastructure, views of haves and have-nots. It playfully solidifies their belief in democracy and strong government - transforming the mistrust of recent decades into new mutual trust.