

TOGETHER FOR A GREENER FUTURE

It is 2023 and I am walking in the public park. The park is full of restaurants, playgrounds, a skate park, and plants. It is almost the only green patch in my city and yet the vegetation is not large. There are no trees at all, while the factories in the city emit a lot of CO₂. There should be more trees. That is why I am setting up a climate action together with adults. With LED lights in the dark, a lot of attention is drawn to clean up the park and plant trees. Many of the (illegal) restaurants also go away and there is enough room for trees again. After a long wait, there are beautiful, big, green trees and the climate action has inspired the government to plant more trees in the city and create more parks.
