

Energy-efficient wireless access networks

Are wireless networks climate-friendly or can they become more efficient in their energy consumption so that their energy footprint can be decreased? To gain a better understanding of these research questions, M.Sc. projects are available on understanding the energy efficiency of wireless access networks (e.g., a WLAN) and developing solutions for improving their energy efficiency.

Contact: Suzan Bayhan