2.2 PLANNING AND PROCESS

The following points of interest are relevant for the thesis planning and thesis process:

- A guideline has been developed for the number of meetings, the contents of those meetings, the times the second supervisor is to be present and the overall schedule. Depending on the type of project and the process, this guideline may be (somewhat) derogated from in mutual consultation: guideline schedule 10 EC thesis & guideline schedule 25-35 EC thesis
- Start the thesis-writing-process as soon as possible after commencing the project.
- While planning the master thesis process, ask your supervisor when he/she will be absent (e.g. conference, vacation), and make sure to consider this in your time-line.
- Make sure that you have plenty of time available to work on your master's thesis. For a master's thesis of 30 EC, the graduation process takes on average 840 hours. Spread equally over 3 periods, this averages to 28 hours per week! The time required to complete the master's thesis varies, and depends on the difficulty level of the project, the set-up of the research, the engagement of any external parties, and the skills, capabilities and diligence of the student.
- Your conduct and actions and the course of the process (incl. completion within the scheduled time) are all taken into account in the assessment of the master's thesis.
- Should progress not accord to plan, it is imperative that you and/or your supervisor contact the study adviser (for additional support, adjustment of the planning, etc.).

The image features a central graphic of a tree with intricate, branching orange and yellow foliage. This tree is superimposed on a series of white, wavy, parallel lines that flow across the frame from left to right, creating a sense of movement and depth. The background is a solid black, which makes the white lines and the vibrant colors of the tree stand out prominently.
