

Evaluation report: Lean Six Sigma Green Belt – 2010/2011

The evaluation committee has evaluated the course course Lean Six Sigma Green Belt (LSSGB) by sending an online questionnaire to 64 students. 13 students filled in the questionnaire, which gives a response of 20%.

The overall appreciation for the course LSSGB is marked with a 7.5 (6.8 in 2009-2010), which is above the required 7 for a master course. In general, the respondents are very positive; all aspects are marked above 7. The students find the contents interesting (8.8). All respondents state that the time for the course was sufficient.

These are the main conclusions of the evaluation. The interpretation is based on the remarks of the respondents. For an overview of the results, see the graph at the end of this report.

Recommendations by the committee:

The quality of the course can be improved. Based on the results of the questionnaire, some recommendations for improvement are provided. The most important recommendations are:

- The lectures can be speeded up. Seven respondents think the tempo is good, but five think it is too slow.
- The quality of the lectures should be improved. Some subjects got too much attention and others not enough. In some cases there was not explained what the subject was about and what it was meant for, before the details were explained.
- The usage of the book must be reconsidered. A few respondents say they did not use the book, because it was not necessary or too detailed to be useful. The sheets were sufficient.
- One student suggests there should be more example questions to practice for the exam.

Remarkable Facts:

- There was one bachelor student attending the course .

Overview:

- Most marks are given on a scale from 1-5 and converted to a scale from 2-10 by multiplying with a factor 2. For master courses, a mark of 7.0 or higher is sufficient.
- The height of the bars in the graph represents the mark. The thin line at the top of the bars gives the standard deviation.
